

The State of Biodiversity 2022

Thursday, March 3 at the
San Diego Natural History Museum, Balboa Park

This annual event returns, bringing together conservationists, land managers, scientists, and natural history nerds for in-depth conversations about our current ecological condition and what's to come.

Urban ecologist Dr. Chris Schell will lead the conversation with his talk Legacies, Luxury, and Prestige, exploring biodiversity and environmental justice.

3 PM: Keynote speaker Dr. Chris Schell

4:30 PM: Networking reception with no-host bar

Register now at sdnat.org/stateofbiodiversity.

Join virtually on Zoom, where Spanish interpretation will be available, and take part in the conversation on Twitter at #StateOfBio.
